

Young Talents in Internal Medicine

World Contest 2026

Young Talents in Internal Medicine World Contest 2026

Contest Finals: 7-9 May 2026, Kraków, Poland

What's new for 2026

- We accept 10 submissions per partner society (not per country) and 3 submissions per partner university.
- All finalists (up to 150 case reports selected by Reviewers) will present their work on stage as short oral presentations with slides.
- The Contest Finals has two parts:
 - Grand Final: top 30 case reports with the highest scores from the Reviewers
 - Peer Award Specialty Finals: up to 120 additional case reports presented in specialty groups
- New voting models will be introduced: popular voting and peer voting

Role of partner societies & universities

Partner societies and universities are responsible for selecting and endorsing young internists who will represent their country. These representatives will showcase their work on an international stage, gaining visibility among world-renowned experts and peers from around the world during the Contest Finals.

Benefits

For young internists

- Represent their country on a world stage.
- Receive an official diploma of qualification to the World Finals.
- Gain international promotion via newsletters & social media.
- Join an exclusive networking group of World Finalists for collaboration and career development.
- Receive free MIRCIM 2026 virtual access simply by submitting a case report to the Contest.

How it works

Stage 1: National Preselections (from Sept 2025)

1. Confirm your society/university participation.
2. Appoint a working contact person.
3. Set and announce your national submission deadline.
4. Share contest details on your website (linked on www.youngtalents.one).

World Contest 2026

5. Submit your list of endorsed case reports to be published as the national representation on youngtalents.one.

Note: At this stage, no fees are required from authors. The goal is to promote young internists from your country among international participants.

Stage 2: International Submission (Nov 3, 2025 – Feb 20, 2026)

1. Ensure endorsed authors submit their abstracts via the online system:
<https://submit.piebm.org/>
2. Authors choose their participation mode and pay the contest fee:
 1. In-person (in Kraków, Poland) – €225
 2. Virtual (for those unable to travel) – €95

All correctly submitted case reports will be reviewed and are automatically qualified to be presented at the World Finals.

3. Funding for participation can come from:
 1. The author themselves
 2. The society (e.g. covering the top 3 submissions)
 3. Their hospital, university, or other institution
4. If at least one author participates in person, the society/university may delegate one jury member to serve during the Finals (May 7–9, 2026, in Kraków).
 1. The organizers cover registration fees and social events.
 2. If there are at least three in-person submissions, the organizers also provide three nights of accommodation.
